WHO WE ARE

Brain to Books provides often-neglected marketing opportunities to authors. We will teach you how to grow your following and build your platform. We show you how, point you in all the right directions then provide the events you need to market and expand your network.

SUMMARY OF SERVICES

Year round, we collaborate with companies offering authorial services to provide you with our All-In-One Author Center. From May to October, we offer free blog tours. We are happy to submit your tour request to our 100+ bloggers who will contact you if your book is a match for their readers. In October, Brain to Books opens registration for the Brain to Books Cyber Convention and Book Expo. From January to April, we provide free marketing materials, instructions, and marketing guidance to help authors sell better. In April, registered authors can execute the skills they've learned at the Brain to Books Cyber Convention and Book Expo. We teach you how to evaluate your results, re-write your plan, and execute again until you get the results you're looking for.

HOW IT WORKS

When registration opens, an author can register at braintobooks.com. There, you will find a vast selection of events that you can use to market your book during the Brain to Books Cyber Convention and Book Expo. Select as little or as many events as you want. Complete your order, make your payment through PayPal, then fill out the form(s) affiliated with your event(s). Your information is safely uploaded into the Brain to Books database where our team then selects the information they need to build the events you ordered.

While we build the Convention, you will receive marketing materials and first class marketing lessons at no extra charge. Invite your readers. Tell your followers. Share the event. Stop in at Brain to Books and access the marketing details we provide to help you better market your book. Learn how to maximize your success during the Brain to Books Cyber Convention.

On 7, 8, & 9 April 2017, browse the Convention, view the results, join a panel, sit with Joe Compton on Joe Live, or attend one of the many workshops hosted by various authors. Join the network of undiscovered talents, find new friends, and strengthen old relationships. After the Convention, return to your marketing plan and review your sales. Evaluate your marketing plan and readjust your approach for your next campaign.
